

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA

School of Communication Sciences and Disorders

Non-degree Student Policy

Non-degree students are applicants who have usually completed at least a baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited university in the United States and are not seeking a graduate degree. Visit the College of Graduate Studies website for more information.

http://www.admissions.graduate.ucf.edu/nondegree\_applicants/

Approved Courses in Communication Sciences and Disorders

Non-degree students may not enroll in graduate courses offered by the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders.

Some undergraduate courses are available to non-degree students who meet the appropriate prerequisites.

Students interested in taking courses in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders (CSD) as a non-degree student are able to apply through the College of Graduate Studies. CSD will not grant permission to enroll in any courses prior to the first week of classes. Walk-in advising will be available during the first day of each semester.

Please note:

- Non-degree students will be allowed to register for a course only if a space is available.
- CSD reserves the right to deny students spaces in courses.
- Non-degree students should see the graduate advisor during the first week of the semester.
- Avoid the Late Fee: Students unable to enroll in any open section during regular Registration and Add/Drop may register for the UCF temporary course UCF 1500 before the end of regular Registration and Add/Drop. This will avoid the $100 Late Registration Fee. Students should drop this temporary course before the end of Late Registration and Add/Drop.

July 2018